V. ACCEPTANCE OF RESPONSIBILITY

saving substantial government and court resources.

VI. PROBATION REPORT AND OBJECTIONS

U.S. Probation Officer Sara Donson prepared a thorough and thoughtful Presentence Investigation Report (PSR) in this matter. The Guidelines calculations (adjusted offense level of 15) were objected to by MD Hasan. Hasan has objected to this enhancement on the grounds that his criminal activity “did not include more than five participants.” MD Hasan claims, his criminal activity “involved three co-conspirators, was not complex and lasted a short duration of time.” Initially based on this position, MD Hasan asserted that the aggravated role enhancement should not apply, which means he would also be eligible for a two-level downward adjustment as a zero-point offender under Section 4C1.1. However, it is now agreed by MD Hasan that Hasan would still get a two-level aggravated role enhancement, pursuant to Section 3B1.1(c), and this enhancement would make the defendant ineligible for a two-level downward adjustment under Section 4C1.1. MD Hasan believes that the adjusted offense level should be a 13.

VII. 18 U.S.C. §3553(a) FACTORS

The Court, in determining the particular sentence to be imposed, shall consider:

1. The Nature and Circumstances of the Offense

The nature and circumstances of the offense are well illuminated in the Presentence Report.

The History and Characteristics of the Defendant

The history and characteristics of the defendant are detailed in the many character reference letters that are attached hereto and marked Exhibit "A" as well as summarized for the convenience of the Court earlier in this Memorandum.

2(a). The Need for the Sentence Imposed to Reflect the Seriousness of the Offense, to promote respect for the law, and to provide just punishment

The base offense level assigned to this offense encompasses this need in the typical case. However, because of the many mitigating factors present here, the court should vary downward from the assigned offense level

MD Hasan has lost everything. He will lose his job, he has ready lost his reputation in the community. He has been embarrassed. He will be barred from holding Political Office. He will never find another job as rewarding as being an Elected Official and helping his constituents. And he could be incarcerated. Such a sentence promotes respect to the law.

2(b). The Need for the Sentence Imposed to Afford Adequate Deterrence to Criminal Conduct

MD Hasan was deterred merely by the accusation. There is no evidence that he intends to commit this or any other offense in the future. He has learned his lesson. He has lost:

- The esteem of his siblings, parents, wife, children and friends;
- His job;
- His future job potential.
- A career serving in Public Office
- His self-esteem through the shame

If someone else similarly situated were to see what happened to MD Hasan, all that he has lost, permanently being labeled a felon, potential incarceration and having the next subsequent years of his life supervised by federal authorities, that would be more than a sufficient deterrent to anyone considering engaging in similar conduct.

2(c). The Need for the Sentence Imposed to Protect the Public from Further Crimes of the Defendant

There is no evidence that the defendant will commit a crime in the future, and no evidence he presents a threat to the public.

2(d). The Need for the Sentence Imposed to Provide the Defendant with Needed Educational or Vocational Training, Medical Care, or Other Correctional Treatment in the most Effective Manner

The defendant is not in need of educational or vocational training, medical care or correctional treatment.

VIII DETERRENCE

The National Institute of Justice has published information about the value of deterrence and addressing whether or not punishment deters criminal behavior.

It is clear from the facts of this case that specific deterrence is not a concern that the Court should have regarding MD Hasan. All factors point to a reasonable conclusion that MD Hasan will never commit another criminal offense. However, the government often argues that a sentence of incarceration is necessary in order to deter others who may be similarly situated to MD Hasan. The National Institute of Justice "Five Things About Deterrence" addresses this concern.

Those five things about deterrence are:

1. "The certainty of being caught is a vastly more powerful deterrent than the punishment". In other words, there is a recognition that people commit crimes because they do not believe they will get caught. The thought of punishment as a deterrent does not enter in to it because the person will not commit the crime if they think they are going to be caught.
2. "Sending an individual convicted of a crime to prison isn't a very effective way to deter crime". That makes intuitive sense since, if people do not believe they will get caught, they will commit a crime and, if they believe they will get caught, will not commit a crime regardless of the punishment.
3. "Police deter crime by increasing the perception that criminals will be caught and punished".
4. "Increasing the severity of punishment does little to deter crime".
5. The last point about deterrence is inapplicable here because it relates to the death penalty.

It is acknowledged that this information does not create substantive or procedural rights and is not necessarily the position of the United States Department of Justice. However, it is authoritative on this issue and the United States Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, National Institute of Justice is a reputable repository for information of this sort.'

Attached to this Memorandum are letters from people who know MD Hasan best.

Recently, many people in a position to know, have commented regarding sentencing and its effect on those sentenced. Justice Anthony Kennedy has stated that long sentences have appalling effects on people's lives.²

Similarly, former Attorney General Eric Holder has commented that too many Americans go to too many prisons for far too long.'

Former President George W. Bush commuted the 30 month incarceration sentence for Lewis "Scooter" Libby and, among other things, remarked that the decision to commute his prison sentence leaves in place a harsh punishment for Mr. Libby. "The reputation he gained through his years of public service and professional work in the legal community is forever damaged. His wife and young children have also suffered immensely. He will remain on probation". The consequences of his conviction will be long lasting.'

In Rita v. United States, 551 U.S. 338, 127 S. Ct. 2456, 168 L. Ed. 2d 203 (2007), the Supreme Court held that even if a traditional departure is not justified, a non-guideline sentence can be appropriate because the guideline sentence itself fails to properly reflect all of the 18 U.S.C. Section 3553(a) considerations.

This is MD Hasan's first offense. He has lead a law abiding life for over 44 years. In US v. Tomko, 562 F. 3d. 558 (3rd Cir. 2009), the defendant was convicted of tax invasion with a loss of $225,000.00 and guidelines of 12 to 18 months. The Third Circuit held that the court's sentence to probation on condition of one year home detention and fine of $150,000.00 was not unreasonable in the part because of the defendant's minimal criminal record.

Prison time is more significant for someone who is a first offender so a below guideline sentence for such a person is justified. US v. Baker, 445 F. 3d. 987 (7th Cir. 2006).

In 28 U.S.C. Section 994(j), Congress has provided that "the commission shall ensure that the guidelines reflect the general appropriateness of imposing a sentence other than imprisonment in cases in which the defendant is a first offender who has not been convicted of a crime of violence or an otherwise serious offense, and the general appropriateness of imposing a term of imprisonment on a person convicted of a crime of violence that results in serious bodily injury. Thus, there is congressional recognition of the propriety of a non-incarceration sentence in cases such as the one here.

In US v. Autery, 555 F. 3d. 864 (9th Cir. 2009), the defendant was convicted of possession of child pornography and his guidelines were 41-51 months. The Court found a variance to probation and the 9th Circuit found that that sentence was not unreasonable in part because of his positive characteristics "such as having no history of substance abuse, no interpersonal instability, no socio-pathic or criminalistic attitude, his motivation and intelligence and the support of his wife and child.

In US v. Munoz-Nava, 524 F. 3d. 1137 (10th Cir. 2008), the defendant was convicted in a drug case and his guidelines were 47-56 months. The Court held that the District Court sentence of one year and a day in prison and one year of home detention was reasonable in part because of defendant's behavior while on a 1 1/2 year pretrial release which the District Court found to be exemplary and shows that the defendant is unlikely to re-offend.

In Pepper v. US, 131 S. Ct. 1229 (2011), the Court indicated that the likelihood that a defendant will engage in future criminal conduct is a central factor that District Court's must assess when imposing a sentence. In this case, there is no evidence that MD Hasan will engage in any future criminal conduct.

Here, MD Hasan, prior to Indictment met with the U. S. Attorney and Federal Law Enforcement Authorities and provided information regarding these illegal activities. Additionally, post Indictment, MD Hasan immediately indicated he would accept responsibility and plead guilty. Such cooperation, even in the absence of a 5K1.1 Motion, can be responsible for a significant downward variance.

In United States v. Ruff, 535 F. 3d. 999 (9th Cir. 2008), the defendant pled guilty to embezzling $650,000.00 from a non-profit organization over the course of three years. His guidelines were 30-37 months. The District Court sentenced him to one day in jail and supervised release for three years on the condition that he spend a year in community treatment, go to work and obtain counseling. That sentence was not unreasonable in part because of his cooperation with the agents as to how the crime was accomplished.

In United States v. Howe, 543 F. 3d. 128 (3rd Cir. 2008), the government was requesting a sentence of 18 months. The Court sentenced to probation for many reasons, many of which apply to case at bar. Mr. Howe had no criminal history, no drug or alcohol history, was a well regarded member of his community, submitted many letters of support, he recognized the seriousness of the offense, expressed heartfelt remorse and the process had been difficult for him and his family.

Those factors plus many others are present here.

For all of the reasons detailed herein, a one day sentence on the bank fraud count is sufficient but not greater than necessary to adequately serve the purposes of sentencing, and imposition of the two year mandatory minimum on the aggravated identity theft count is sufficient to serve the purposes of sentencing.

IX. VARIANCE: The following list of mitigating factors are all valid reasons for a sentence below the guideline range:

1. That MD Hasan is a person of honesty, trustworthiness, compassion and responsibility.
2. MD Hasan is a person with a strong moral compass and demonstrated a strong work ethic
3. MD Hasan has contributed to the community in many ways both when as an elected official and in a personal capacity.

4. MD Hasan has exemplified kindness, integrity and the will to help others.
5. MD Hasan has consistently supported friends and family in time of need, has always been there for others, putting his own needs aside to support those in distress, both while an elected official and in a personal capacity.
6. MD Hasan is generous and caring.
7. MD Hasan is supportive, helpful and a cornerstone in the community.
8. MD Hasan has genuine compassion for others and is selfless, kind and responsible, is known as a great person, a great family member, a great friend and a great former community leader.
9. MD Hasan has admitted to his mistake and is incredibly remorseful.
10. MD Hasan has learned his lesson from his actions and would never do anything like that again.
11. MD Hasan is aware of his actions have hurt the trust in the Election Process.
12. MD Hasan has no criminal record.
13. Prison time is more significant for someone who is a first offender.
14. MD Hasan's imprisonment will adversely impact his wife and small children.
15. MD Hasan immigrated to The United States and was a productive, crime free member of society until this incident.
16. MD Hasan has been compliant on pretrial release, showing he is amenable to supervision in the Community.

X. CONCLUSION

For all of the foregoing reasons, the defendant respectfully requests that the Court sentence him, giving due to consideration to all of the mitigating factors contained herein, to a non-incarceration sentence. In lieu of a non-incarceration sentence, a sentence of one day incarceration with supervised release.

Respectfully Submitted,

Subject: Character Reference for My Husband,Md Nurul Hasan

Honorable Judge Hervey Bartle III,

I am writing to you as the wife of Md Nurul Hasan, who is currently facing charges related to a voter fraud case.

First of all, I sincerely apologize. I never imagined that I would have to write to you about this. I consider myself very fortunate—Hasan is my life partner. He is someone whose honesty and integrity have always been admirable. I am shocked to be facing such a situation. At that time, I was pregnant and preoccupied with myself.

By the time I came to know, it was already too late. Hasan himself admitted his mistake with deep remorse. In such a situation, there was nothing more to be done. Hasan and I have always advised our children to speak the truth. I don't know how they will accept the fact that their father has made such a mistake, someone who always teaches them to help others and to walk the path of righteousness. My children wait eagerly for their father to come home from work every day. I don't know what will happen if their father is taken away from them. How will I answer their questions?

I am already falling ill due to all this. Our baby, who is just 11 months old, has begun to feel and understand a father's love—how will I ever fill that void? If Hasan is taken away from us forever. I will be left to live a life like a widow and my children will grow up like orphans.

I have no experience of the outside world because I've never gone out to earn a living. Hasan is the sole provider for our family. From taking the children to school to taking them to the doctor, he manages everything. Helping others in times of need is a part of who he is.

If Hasan is guilty, then we're equally guilty too. Please forgive me and my entire family. If any concession can be made considering our children, If there is any forgiveness in your authority for Hasan's mistake, or if instead of separating him from his children, household punishment or some form of community service can be given. I will remain eternally grateful to you and the court.

If you want to know more about Hasan, you can contact me at this email address. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Subject: Character Reference for My Son, Md Nurul Hasan.

Your Honor,

I write to you today not only as a father but also as a proud freedom fighter who served my country with honor on the battlefield in 1971. I began working at the age of 21 and served diligently for 36 years with unwavering honesty and dedication.

Among my three sons, 'Md. Hasan' has always been a role model in our family. He is honest, talented, and deeply caring — particularly toward his siblings, whom he has helped raise with love and guidance. From a young age, he stood out for his sense of responsibility and moral values.

When Md. Hasan moved to the United States, he saw the struggles of people around him and, true to his character, dedicated himself to helping them in any way he could. His passion for serving others is something I have always encouraged in all my children.

My wife and I made it a priority to raise our children with a strong foundation of education, honesty, and compassion. In our home, especially during the month of Ramadan, my children witnessed me personally helping around 1,000 people every year providing them with food, money, and clothing. This is the legacy of generosity and community service that we passed on to them — a legacy Md. Hasan embraced wholeheartedly.

In all these years, I have never seen my son involved in any wrong doing. I truly believe that the incident he is now facing is a one-time mistake in a life otherwise defined by service, kindness, and integrity.

With deep humility, I appeal to 'Your Honor' to consider his good character and contributions to society. I sincerely request that you forgive him for this misstep and allow him the opportunity to continue supporting his family and community with the same spirit he has always shown.

Thank you for your time, compassion, and understanding.

Respectfully,

Subject: Character Reference for Mr.Md Nurul Hasan

Your Honor,

I humbly submit this character reference on behalf of my elder brother "Md Nurul Hasan" who is currently facing allegations related to a voting fraud case.

We are three brothers raised in a humble and honest family. Our discipline father was a respected freedom fighter who served his nation with unwavering integrity for over 40 years, retiring at the age of 66. From a young age, my parents instilled in us strong values of honesty, responsibility, and service to others.

I currently work as a Hybrid Telecom Engineer at British Telecom (Openreach)in UK. I've held for the last six years. Prior to that, I worked at Nokia-Siemens (NSN) UK in a similar role. Throughout my career with these reputable multinational companies, I have consistently maintained a standard of integrity and diligence, values that I owe to the upbringing we all received.

My elder brother, from my earliest memory, has always been a man of honesty, deep faith, and strong morals. We grew up together, and never in all these years have I witnessed any misconduct or behaviour that contradicts the principles we were raised with. He has always prioritized helping others and has been deeply involved in community service. His sole purpose for entering politics in the United States was to support people, advocate for justice, and stand by those in need—a legacy we strive to carry forward from our parents.

While I understand and acknowledge the seriousness of the current situation, I also believe this was an unfortunate, one-time error in judgment. I sincerely urge the honourable court to consider his lifelong commitment to public service, his good character, and his positive impact on those around him. Please allow him the opportunity to make amends and continue contributing positively to society.

Thank you for considering this appeal with compassion and fairness.

Yours sincerely,

Subject: Character Reference for Mr. Md Nurul Hasan.

Your Honor,

I am writing this letter to provide a character reference for my elder brother-in-law, Mr. Hasan, who is currently involved in a legal matter concerning voting fraud.

I have been in the teaching profession for the past five years and am currently employed at Concordia Academy, UK. Throughout my career, I have upheld principles of integrity, hard work, and ethical responsibility — values that are equally reflected in the Hoque family, into which I married in 2009.

Over the last 16 years, I have had the privilege of being closely associated with Mr. Hasan. In all that time, I have known him to be a man of deep religious faith, strong moral values, and an unwavering commitment to helping others. He is well respected within the community for his consistent involvement in social work and his readiness to support those in need — always stepping forward when others hesitate.

In my sincere view, Mr. Hasan is a genuine, honest gentleman, and this incident appears to be a one-time lapse in judgment in an otherwise exemplary life of service and integrity. I respectfully urge the Honorable Court to consider his longstanding contributions to society and the community when making a decision. To whom it may concern,

My name is Mohammad Alamgir, and I am writing in regard to my brother-in-law, MD Hasan, who has been with me since my marriage with my wife, her elder brother, and there are many memories with him that hold dear to me. He helped me a lot when I moved to the USA, he showed me what it was like to live in America, and I enjoyed every visit with my kids.

With the sudden news of his current situation, it left me disheartened to see what he must go through due to a mistake that he made, and it had also left me shocked, as it was something I had never imagined could happen.

Although I do understand the consequences of Hasan's actions, but I know he's a kind-hearted man, with a loving family of 6, and I know how much responsibilities that he carries to keep the family in good shape. I do feel that there is room for him to learn from his mistakes.

To whom it may concern,

My name is Arifa Alamgir, and I am writing in regard to my uncle, MD Hasan, whom I have grown up with since I was a child and respected him in every way as he is the eldest uncle in our family. I have spent so much of my childhood with him, and cherish the memories I've made with my uncle, as we created such a strong bond over the past years.

My uncle has always been there for me through my ups and downs, my highs and lows, he has been there for my family, and has helped us in many ways whenever we got stuck in a family situation, he was there to free the ties between the family, he always wanted to make sure that we maintain a healthy relationship amongst each other, and I respect that part of him truly.

With the sudden news of my uncle potentially going to jail, it left me heartbroken, and I couldn't pull myself to believe that he'd be in this crisis. I know, and heard about the mistakes he has made, and I understand that doing something illegally could result in serious consequences, but I have also believed that one mistake doesn't define who that person is, rather it gives a chance for them to learn from it, and I know that moving forward, my uncle can learn from his too.

Re: Character Reference Letter for Mohammed Nurul Hasan

Dear Judge Bartle:

My name is Nina Ahmad and I am currently serving my first term as an At-Large Councilmember on the Philadelphia City Council. I am writing to provide a character reference for Mohammed Nurul Hasan who pled guilty to election fraud offenses. Mr. Hasan is a longtime friend and beloved member of our Bangladeshi-American community as well as being a valued and contributing member of the broader community in Pennsylvania. I have known Mr. Hasan since 2018 and he has always been a loving and caring community member since we first met and deeply respected by all. He is the loving father of four children, ranging in age from 13 years to 8 months and he is the sole provider for his family.

I first met him when Mr. Hasan was serving as the Vice-President of Council of the Milbourne Borough. Ever since I have known him, he has been connecting community to resources, hosting community events on his premises and always pitching in to help. I recall him reaching out to discuss some borough issues since I had been a Deputy Mayor in Philadelphia, and he wanted some perspective. I saw him gathering input from a wide array of stakeholders to inform his decision making.

He was one of the original committee members who helped organize the Bangladesh Parade in Upper Darby, where he organized appearances by elected and other community leaders, making the community feel seen and heard.

I found it particularly noteworthy that whenever he made a commitment to help with some community event or issue, he could be counted on to follow through and fulfil his commitment.

Mr. Hasan is deeply remorseful about the offenses he committed. However, I am confident he will work tirelessly to make amends and earn back the trust and respect of the community.

I hope that this letter can go some way in convincing the court that Mr. Mohammed Nurul Hasan is a good person, and this testimony will be taken into consideration.

Yours truly,

I am writing to provide a character reference for my friend, Mr. Nurul Hasan, who is currently before your court regarding charges of voter fraud.

I have known Mr. Hasan for over 15 years, having met through mutual friends and community activities. Throughout our friendship, he has consistently demonstrated honesty, integrity, and a deep commitment to his family and community. It is truly difficult for me to reconcile this image with the charges he now faces, however, I fully respect the legal process and the importance of these proceedings.

During a challenging period in my life, when my father was seriously ill and subsequently passed away, Mr. Hasan was an unwavering source of support. He assisted my family in numerous ways, providing both emotional and practical help. His dedication to his own family is equally commendable, as a devoted husband and father of four children, he consistently ensures their well-being and happiness.

I am fully aware of the seriousness of the charges against Mr. Hasan. Nonetheless, I respectfully request that the court consider his longstanding positive contributions to our community and his dedication to his family. A severe sentence would not only affect him profoundly but would also have a detrimental impact on his wife and children, who rely on him for support and guidance.

Dear Judge,

My name is Maymuna Akter, and I am writing on behalf of Md Nurul Hasan. He has been a close friend of my father's for over a decade, and I've had the privilege of knowing him and his family throughout my life.

To me, Mr. Hasan has always been someone I looked up to — a kind, respectful, and dependable person who truly cares about others. He's the kind of person who checks in, helps out when someone is struggling, and quietly supports his community without seeking recognition.

That's why it was so hard for me to hear that he's now facing charges related to voter fraud. It doesn't match the person I've always known. I genuinely believe this may have been the result of confusion or lack of awareness, not any kind of intentional wrongdoing.

Mr. Hasan is also a devoted husband and father to four young children. His family relies heavily on him for support — emotionally, financially, and day to day. His wife would be in an incredibly difficult position trying to raise their children alone if he's not there.

I respectfully ask that you take his character, his role in the community, and his responsibilities as a father into consideration. I truly hope he's given the chance to learn from this and continue to support his family and contribute to the people around him, as he always has.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter. If you need any additional information, I'd be happy to provide it.

Sincerely,

Maymuna Akter

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Abir Arab and I am currently a postgraduate student at Temple University. I have been living at Millbourne since 2006 and only recently moved away in 2019 to live in apartments for schooling. However, my permanent address is in Millbourne.

I am writing to share my thoughts on MD Nurul Hasan, who I have had the pleasure of knowing for several years. MD Nurul Hasan is a person of exceptional character, whose kindness and commitment to his community have made a lasting positive impact. He is always at the forefront when it comes to helping others and has been deeply involved in various community initiatives. His dedication to the well-being of others is clear through his continuous support for local projects and his efforts to safeguard the interests of everyone around him. Whether it's volunteering for community events or helping neighbors in need, Hasan's contributions are always meaningful and selfless.

In addition to his community involvement, Hasan is also a wonderful and reliable neighbor. He is considerate, approachable, and always ready to lend a helping hand when needed. What stands out most about him is how inherently good he is—his actions and intentions are always guided by a deep sense of compassion. He consistently demonstrates a genuine desire to do right by others, and his natural kindness and good-hearted nature make him a valued member of the community. It is truly a privilege to know someone as sincere and well-intentioned as Nurul Hasan.

The Honorable Judge,

I am writing to wholeheartedly endorse my cousin's MD Nurul Hasan, whom I have had the privilege of knowing for over 40 years. Throughout our acquaintance, I have witnessed Mr. Hasan's unwavering commitment to honesty, resilience, and community service. As the sole provider for his family, including his wife and four young children, his absence would undoubtedly cause significant hardship. I urge you to consider Mr. Hasan's exceptional character, demonstrated through his patience, empathy, and dedication to justice.

Mr. Hasan's family, including his wife and four children, relies on him for love, support, and care. His role as a father and husband is essential to their daily lives. If he were to be absent, his family would face significant hardship, and his wife would bear the weight of caring for their children alone.

Feel free to reach out to me if you require any further information.

Respectfully Yours

Dear Sir

I am Mosammat Sanu with due respect to write about Md N Hasan for your kind review who is currently charge with voter fraud. In my best knowledge I am describing that I knew him about 8 years as a family friend living in Millbourne, PA with his wife and minor kids with age of 13 years, 10 years, 3 years and 10 months old. In those long periods of time spending with him, I have always seen him as an Honest, Responsible, Moral and community worker. I have seen him to put his best effort to help the community people and never noticed him with involvement in unethical occurrences. Also I had been living in Millbourne about 5 years as his neighbor and I always seen him to devour himself if anyone in the community was facing difficulties.

I can't believe myself that Md Hasan whom I know very well, he is currently facing charges related to voter fraud.

I truly believe that misunderstanding or misleading steps and lack of awareness to conduct him that occurrence.

I am very much hopeful that he realized his mistake and he will be careful in future.

I respectfully urge to the court to consider his morality, honesty, past dedication to the community, and difficult situations of his family as well as to give him opportunities to dedicate himself to continue serve the community.

Thank you for your time to consider this letter and strongly expect that you are making an appropriate decision regarding Md Hasan case in your wisdom and fairness. For further information please feel free to contact me.
